

I think that it is very appropriate to bring competition into local programming. Each service has its place, and I think that Satellite Radio is offering customers a choice. I choose to pay $10/month to receive high quality, diverse programming. If XM is looking to expand their offerings to local programming, I think that will only benefit the consumer.